

Ca. 497BC

---

Died ca 497/496BC
Amyntas I, King of Macedonia died Succeeded by Alexander I ("the Philhellene")

He succeeded his father ALKETAS who in turn succeeded his father Peropos (date unknown)

497BC

---

The Temple of Saturn was built at the Forum in Rome

497 BC  $\rightarrow$  454 BC
2496 BC

Alexander I ("the Philhellene") was king of Macedonia.

He succeeded his father AMYNTAS I
His sons were:

PERDIKKAS King ca 454  $\rightarrow$  413 BC

MEGACLAOS (never king)

AMYNTAS (never king)

497 BC

Temple of Saturn in Roman Forum built

497 BC

Iman Creek from Sardes.

497BC

DURANT

The Romans dated the dedication of the shrine of SATURN, the oldest god of the CAPITOL.

497BC - 479BC

Persian wars, with Greece

497 BC

The plebs, driven to despair by the cruelty of patrician creditors refused to serve in a war against the VOLSCIANS, until the consul won them over by freeing all debtors from prison. But when the army returned victorious, the other consul refused to recognize his colleague's acts; he arrested the debtors again, and enforced the law with merciless cruelty. on a renewal of the war, the betrayed plebs again declined to fight; but finally Marcus Valerius (of the great Valerian raise "that love the people well") was made detector, and here they trusted. Victory again followed; but Valour was unable to get the consent of the Senate to his proposed change in the law. So the plebeian army, still in full array outside the gate, marched away to a hill across the river 3 mi from Rome, where, they declared, they were going to build a Rome of their own. The "Sibyl" brought the patricians to arms and success, and the plebs returned from the "Sacred Mount."